U. S. PLANS NEW DIPLOMATIC MOVES IN BERLIN CRISIS

PRESIDENT TO ADDRESS THE JOINT SESSION

White House Says Chief Executive Will Deliver Personally Message to Congress Monday

AWAITS CLAY ARRIVAL

Washington, July 21—(AP)—The White House said today that President Truman will deliver personally to Congress next Tuesday his appeal for anti-inflation legislation and other measures.

Mr. Truman will address a joint session of the two houses at twelve o'clock noon.

The time for his appearance on Tuesday was decided upon after telephone consultation with both Republican congressional leaders of the Democratic minority.

Congress will convene Monday in answer to Mr. Truman's call.

Gov. Thomas B. Dewey, the Republican presidential nominee, is reported favoring a brief GOP law-making program and quick end to the session. His friends say he feels that GOP leaders, after hearing Mr. Truman's message, should be able to agree on a brief outline of measures that can be passed without long delay.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the president is now drafting an anti-inflation bill dealing with rising prices. Ross declined to give any details of that measure.

He said the president will talk with Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. occupation commander at Berlin, in advance of his appearance before Congress. Clay was due in Washington today.

At the same time, Ross would not disclose the extent to which bi-partisan foreign policy will figure in Mr. Truman's talk to the legislators.

He said Mr. Truman will ask Congress to remove what the chief executive has described as discriminations in the recently enacted displaced persons bill.

The measure, which the president

Will To Escape Dad's Fate Keeps Wounded Officer Alive

Detroit, July 21—(AP)—A stubborn will to escape the fate of his father kept a young policeman alive today in spite of several bullet wounds inflicted by two unknown gunmen.

After being taken to a receiving hospital where he now is given a 50-50 chance to live, 23-year-old Rookie Casimir Kaliszewski even was able to give police a little help in tracking down the two youths who fired on him as he walked his beat alone early yesterday morning.

Kaliszewski, whose father was shot to death by bandits 23 years ago when he too was a rookie cop, is sure he recognized his assailants. But he couldn't name them and was too weak to attempt a description.

"Do you know who shot you?" asked a detective.

The slight nod meant "yes."

"How many were there?"

Two fingers were lifted from the white sheets in a feeble gesture.

"Can you name them?"

"No," said an almost imperceptible shake of the head.

"Would you be able to identify them?"

Again came the nod.

Police began a roundup of suspects, looking for two young bandits who might have accosted Kaliszewski as he entered an alley and fled in a black car.

But at the bedside where her son lay so close to death, Mrs. Helen Kaliszewski remembered with anguish a similar experience when Casimir Senior died in her arms not long after he joined the police force.

16 Fighter Planes Reach RAF Field

Odham, Eng., July 21—(AP)—Sixteen U. S. F-80 fighter planes completed today the first jet-propelled air crossing of the Atlantic from the United States.

They set down at this RAF field at 6:39 p. m. (10:39 a. m. EST) after a leisurely flight which began 11 days and 3,725 miles ago from their home base at Selfridge Field, Mich.

The volunteers may, up to a point, pick the branch of service they wish to join. But the new draft law limits the annual total of the special enlistments to 110,000 for the army, 36,000 for the navy, including 6,000 for the marines, and 15,000 for the air force.

For the first four weeks, beginning today, the army will accept 10,000 men, the navy 3,000, and the air force 1,300. Enlistments will be conducted by regular recruiting officers and qualified youths will be accepted in the order in which they apply.

After their one year's service—to be confined to the continental limits of the United States—the 13-year-olds must spend from four to six years in an organized reserve unit.

The peacetime draft law requires that all male civilians 18 through 25, must register, but none can be drafted until reaching the age of 19. Registrations will start August 30, beginning with men of 25 and working down to the 18-year-olds who will begin registering on September 17.

Selective Service officials estimate it will be a month or six weeks before they can set up machinery to govern classification and deferments.

Drowning Accident In The Tionesta Near Barnes Brings To End Girl's Vacation Trip

A vacation visit with a chum residing near Barnes came to a tragic end for Lois Ann Bell, aged 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Bell, Watson Farm, Marienville, R. D. 2, when she lost her life by drowning while wading in the East Branch of the Tionesta Creek, a short distance below Barnes, about 3:45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Lois Ann had been the guest since Sunday of Janet Ann Hulings, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hulings, who reside near the scene of the tragedy. According to information given investigating officials, Janet can swim, but Lois could not. The two girls went to the pool for a "dip". Janet stated that Lois was wading in the water, when suddenly she seemed to slip and disappear. Janet's screams attracted Mr. and Mrs. John Hoffman, of Sheffield, who were on the opposite side of an island in the stream, as well as Fred A. Schuler, well known Prudential insurance agent, of Warren, who was at work on a cabin some distance from the stream. Mr. Schuler dove to the scene and without disrobing dove into the stream, locating the body immediately, and succeeded in bringing it to the surface.

While the rescuers started artificial respiration, calls were placed from nearby homes for a physician and inhalator from Sheffield. Dr. T. McHenry speeded to the scene and the inhalator owned by the Sheffield Fire Department was rushed to Barnes by Emmett Henry and Charles Slater, Chief of Police, Bob Carburg also joining the rescue squad.

While the Sheffield firemen worked with the inhalator, a call was sent to Warren for the resuscitator, which was taken to the scene by Jim Tridico and Dave Main, of the Central Station. The firemen worked over the prostrate form of the child for two hours before she was pronounced dead by the physician and the coroner summoned.

Just how long the girl had been in the water before she was pulled to the surface by Mr. Schuler can not be fixed accurately, but it was only a matter of very few minutes after the alarm was given until artificial respiration was being applied. The pool where the tragedy occurred has long been known as a popular swimming hole for young people of the area. The water is somewhat stagnant and the bottom of the creek is covered with mud. At the point where the body was found the water was about six feet deep. Whether the girl stepped off a log or slipped on a log or stone will never be known.

Lois had arrived at the Hulings home Sunday for a vacation visit with her friend Janet, and according to relatives, was to have returned home today.

Lois Ann Bell was born May 28, 1933, at Smithport, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert E. Bell, and was a sophomore in the Sheffield High School.

Besides her parents, she leaves three brothers, Myron L. Bell, serving with the Army Air Corps at San Antonio, Texas; Robert W. and William M. Bell, at home; also three grandfathers, Mrs. W. E. Bell, of Bloomer, Kan., and Mrs. A. Bloomer, of Kansas.

Services in her memory will be held from the family home at Watson Farm at two o'clock Friday afternoon.

The indictments which named the 12 charged them with illegal activities, under the Smith act, dating back to April 1, 1945. The Smith act characterizes as illegal any activity which advocates or teaches the overthrow of the government by violence.

Specifically mentioned in the indictments was a meeting of the party, June, 1945.

Federal officials said the maximum penalty upon conviction under the Smith act is 10 years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 for each charge. Those arraigned last night in New York City were indicted on two charges each.

New York, July 21—(AP)—United States Steel Corporation today raised its prices an average of $9.34 a ton.

The advance wiped out a cut of $1.25 a ton put into effect in April by U. S. Steel subsidiaries.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the firm, said in a statement yesterday the April price reduction was "part of an unsuccessful effort by these subsidiaries to aid in retarding further increases in the cost of living."

The April reduction was linked with a refusal to raise wages and salaries. But last Friday, U. S. Steel raised the wages of 170,000 production workers in the CIO's United Steel Workers Union by nine percent and forecast a compensating price boost.

"Steel prices have failed to keep pace with the very substantial increases in employment costs, in transportation charges, and in the cost of coal, scrap and other purchases," he said.

Five of the convicts were captured a few hours later. Boswell said, but Paterson and three others were still at liberty.

Montgomery, Ala., July 21—(AP)—A shotgun blast and a fusillade of revolver shots failed to halt the escape from Kilby prison late yesterday of 35-year-old Haywood Patterson, one of the defendants in the famous Scottsboro rape case.

COMMUNIST PARTY CHIEFS ARE INDICTED

National Chairman and General Secretary Of Group in the United States Arrested

"FRAME-UP" CHARGED

New York, July 21—(AP)—Twelve Communist leaders, representing the party's high command in America, were under indictment today on charges of advocating the violent overthrow of the United States government.

Seven of the 12—including William Z. Foster, national chairman of the party in the United States, and Eugene V. Dennis, general secretary—were arrested last night shortly after their indictment by a federal grand jury investigating subversive activities. The other five are being sought.

The arrests, one of the sharpest blows yet struck against organized Communism in this country, brought an immediate, strongly worded protest from national headquarters of the party.

It described the indictments as a "monstrous frame-up" and said the arrests were part of a plan by President Truman to embarrass the New Party of Henry A. Wallace.

Foster and the others indicted are specifically accused of "conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence."

The seven under arrest were arraigned last night on the charges and all pleaded innocent.

In addition to Foster and Dennis, those under arrest are: New York City Councilman Benjamin Davis, John B. Williamson, trade union secretary for the party; Henry Winston, party organizational secretary; Jacob Stachel, educational secretary for the party; and Carl Winters, chairman of the Michigan state council of the party.

Winters was seized in Detroit; the others in New York City.

Of those arrested here, five were taken into custody at Communist national headquarters in lower Manhattan. The sixth, Councilman Davis, was arrested at his home.

All those indicted by the grand jury, which had been investigating for about a year, were identified by federal officials as members of the Communist party's national board. Davis and Winston are negroes.

Separate indictments returned against all 12 men charged them with holding membership in the Communist party "knowing well that said Communist party was and is a society or assembly of persons teaching the overthrow of the United States by force and violence."

The indictments which named the 12 charged them with illegal activities, under the Smith act, dating back to April 1, 1945. The Smith act characterizes as illegal any activity which advocates or teaches the overthrow of the government by violence.

CIO and AFL Are Giving The "New Party" Cold Shoulder

Philadelphia, July 21—(AP)—With the CIO and AFL coldly staying home, Henry Wallace's third party began hearing suggestions for a "peace with Russia" platform today and worked itself up for a revival-singing convention.

"Everyone want Wallace," "Friendly Henry Wallace," "Friendly Henry Wallace," "In the White House."

A group of Wallace supporters was singing that on the sidewalk. The "New Party's" founding convention will sing it—and other songs—Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

As for the platform, two days of public hearings started today but the first tentative draft of the document was written ahead of time, yesterday.

And it says—according to Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell, the platform chairman—that "capitalist America and Communist Russia can and must live together in the same world."

Philadelphia, July 21—(AP)—Henry Wallace's campaign manager, C. H. Baldwin, said today the arrest of Communist leaders means that "for the first time in our history the government has moved to outlaw a political party."

Baldwin also told a news conference it was a "remarkable coincidence" that the government should move against the Communist party during the same week when the Wallace "New Party" convention is to begin.

It says the party "pledges through negotiations and discussion with the Soviet Union, in good faith, to find areas of agreement to win the peace."

It condemns the Marshall plan and other aspects of U. S. foreign policy. It accuses the Republicans and Democrats of rejecting the "dictates of big business."

About 60 organizations are scheduled to give their platform views, after which, Tugwell said, the document will be refined and completed before it goes before the convention for adoption Sunday.

The two big labor combines, AFL and CIO, were not among the 60 groups, even though the platform is certain to condemn the Taft-Hartley labor law. They didn't even bother to reply to the invitations.

An AFL spokesman, Publicity Director Phil Pearl, said in Washington the letter was "thrown away" because "we have regard the third party as a front for the Communist party" (Wallace denies it). The CIO merely referred reporters to the action of executive board which condemned the third party last January.

Eight Missing On Big French Plane

Marseilles, France, July 21—(AP)—Five of 13 persons aboard a French Air Force Wellington plane were rescued today after a forced landing in the Mediterranean, the French Air Force headquarters for southern France announced.

Headquarters did not say that the remaining eight were definitely lost but merely that rescue planes had not yet sighted them.

Earlier the French news agency had reported that 20 were aboard and that all had been rescued.

The plane, ferrying families of French soldiers from North Africa back to France, was forced down some 80 miles off the Mediterranean coast. It sent out an S. O. S. and French officials ordered planes and launches to the rescue.

POLICY COVERS AN ABSOLUTE DETERMINATION "NOT TO BE DRIVEN FROM REICH CAPITAL"

London, July 21—(AP)—A responsible British official reported today that a new western power note protesting Russia's blockade of Berlin has been drafted and sent to Washington for review by top-ranking state department officials.

Washington, July 21—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall said today the United States will do everything possible in the Berlin crisis "to reach an acceptable solution and to avoid the tragedy of war for the world."

At a news conference, Marshall was told that there is presently a widespread fear of war in the world over the Berlin crisis between Soviet Russia and the western powers. He was asked to express his views on the situation.

In a statement which he later authorized for direct quotation, Marshall said:

"I can only say at this time that our position, I think, is well understood."

"We will not be coerced or intimidated in any way in our procedures under the rights and responsibilities that we have in Berlin and generally in Germany."

"At the same time, we are prepared to involve every possible resource of negotiation and diplomatic procedures to reach an acceptable solution and to avoid the tragedy of war for the world."

"But I repeat again we are not going to be coerced."

Marshall said Gen. Lucius D. Clay will arrive here late this evening and he will confer with Clay tomorrow.

The White House said President Truman also is keeping in close touch with developments in Berlin, and plans to get a first-hand report from Clay.

Clay, the United States occupation commander in Germany, was due in Washington along with other top officials in the American zone. The White House said no definite time has been set for Clay's talk with Mr. Truman.

American officials, meanwhile, are readying new diplomatic moves in a determined effort to settle the Berlin crisis short of war.

These moves, including a new note to Moscow, grow out of a new, three-point policy for dealing with the extremely dangerous situation in the Russian-blockaded German capital.

Authorities familiar with the latest developments say the policy covers an absolute determination "not to be kicked out of Berlin."

But, they add, it also embraces equally strong decisions (a) to seek a peaceful solution to the crisis and (b) to use caution and restraint in both action and words so that the Soviets will be given no possible excuse for making the situation worse.

The nature of the basic policy decisions became known here shortly after officials disclosed that top American authorities in Germany had been ordered home for a quick series of talks.

Scheduled to reach Washington within the next 24 hours are Gen. Clay and other officials.

Would Re-Examine Drivers Involved In Car Accidents

Harrisburg, July 21—(AP)—Re-examination of automobile drivers involved in accidents resulting in death or injury was proposed today to a committee of the Pennsylvania legislature.

Claude S. Klugh, manager of the Pennsylvania Automotive Association, said such drivers should be tested to determine their fitness to operate automobiles.

Klugh appeared at a hearing of a committee receiving suggestions on revision of the state's motor vehicle and tractor code.

The committee asked for suggestions from anyone with ideas about how the code can be improved.

Klugh's proposal would also require a new examination for any operator involved in two-motor vehicle accidents in the same calendar year in which property damage amounted to $50 or more.

The committee is revising the motor code for the legislature's Joint State Government Commission, a research agency, which will make a report to the 1949 legislature.

"Anyone can bring up anything they want," a spokesman said.

The committee announced it put it more formally:

"The committee has decided, prior to final formulation of its report and recommendations, to take cognizance of evidence and suggestions which interested citizens and citizens' groups may wish to present."

That, said one committee source, was expected to bring an avalanche of suggestions on every subject from truck weights to whether automobiles should be compelled to make a full stop behind school buses.

The committee sent out formal notices to more than 50 organizations and individuals. At least a score have indicated they will attend.

COMMUNIST PARTY CHIEFS ARE INDICTED

National Chairman and General Secretary Of Group in the United States Arrested

"FRAME-UP" CHARGED

New York, July 21—(AP)—Twelve Communist leaders, representing the party's high command in America, were under indictment today on charges of advocating the violent overthrow of the United States government.

Seven of the 12—including William Z. Foster, national chairman of the party in the United States, and Eugene V. Dennis, general secretary—were arrested last night shortly after their indictment by a federal grand jury investigating subversive activities. The other five are being sought.

The arrests, one of the sharpest blows yet struck against organized Communism in this country, brought an immediate, strongly worded protest from national headquarters of the party.

It described the indictments as "monstrous frame-up" and said the arrests were part of a plan by President Truman to embarrass the New Party of Henry A. Wallace.

Foster and the others indicted are specifically accused of "conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence."

The seven under arrest were arrested last night on the charges and all pleaded innocent.

In addition to Foster and Dennis those under arrest are: New York City Councilman Benjamin Davis, John B. Williamson, trade union secretary for the party; Henry Winston, party organizational secretary; Jacob Stachel, educational secretary for the party; and Carl Winters, chairman of the Michigan state council of the party.

Winters was seized in Detroit; the others in New York City.

Of those arrested here, five were taken into custody at Communist national headquarters in lower Manhattan. The sixth, Councilman Davis, was arrested at his Harlem home.

All those indicted by the grand jury, which had been investigating for about a year, were identified by federal officials as members of the Communist party's national board. Davis and Winston are negroes.

Separate indictments returned against all 12 men charged them with holding membership in the Communist party, "knowing well that said Communist party was and is a society or assembly of persons teaching the overthrow of the United States by force and violence."

The indictments which named the 12 charged them with illegal activities, under the Smith act, dating back to April 1, 1945. The Smith act characterizes as illegal any activity which advocates or teaches the overthrow of the government by violence.

Specifically mentioned in the indictments was a meeting of the party's national board "on or about June, 1945."

Federal officials said the maximum penalty upon conviction under the Smith act is 10 years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 for each charge. Those arraigned last night in New York City were indicted on two charges each.

It says the party "pledges through negotiations and discussion with the Soviet Union, in good faith, to find areas of agreement to win the peace."

It condemns the Marshall plan and other aspects of U. S. foreign policy. It accuses the Republicans and Democrats of rejecting the United Nations and of obeying "the dictates of big business."

About 60 organizations are scheduled to give their platform views, after which, Tugwell said, the document will be refined and completed before it goes before the convention for adoption Sunday.

The two big labor combines, AFL and CIO, were not among the 60 groups, even though the platform is certain to condemn the Taft-Hartley labor law. They did not even bother to reply to the invitations.

An AFL spokesman, Publicity Director Phil Pearl, said in Washington that the letter was thrown in the waste basket "because we regard the third party as a front for the Communist party" (Wallace denies it). The CIO merely referred reporters to the action of executive board which condemned the third party last January.

Headquarters did not say that the remaining eight were definitely lost but merely that rescue plans had not yet sighted them.

Earlier the French news agency had reported that 20 were aboard and that all had been rescued.

The plane, ferrying families of French soldiers from North Africa back to France, was forced down some 80 miles off the Mediterranean coast. It sent out an S. O. S. and French officials ordered planes and launches to the rescue.

Saegertown, July 21—(AP)—William G. Collins, 57, was drowned in French Creek, not far from his Saegertown RD 1 home yesterday, after he suffered a heart attack while swimming.

His brother, Paul, and a neighbor, A. L. Beatty, swimming on the other side of the creek, could not reach him in time.

CIO and AFL Are Giving The "New Party" Cold Shoulder

Philadelphia, July 21—(AP)—With the CIO and AFL coldly staying home, Henry Wallace's third party began hearing suggestions for a "peace with Russia" platform today and worked itself up for a revival-singing convention.

"Everyone want Wallace," "Friendly Henry Wallace," "Friendly Henry Wallace," "In the White House."

A group of Wallace supporters was singing that on the sidewalk. The "New Party" founding convention will sing it—and other songs—Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

As for the platform, two days of public hearings started today but the first tentative draft of the document was written ahead of time, yesterday.

And it says—according to Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell, the platform chairman—that "capitalist America and Communist Russia can and must live together in the same world."

Henry Wallace's campaign manager, C. H. Baldwin, said today the arrest of Communist leaders means that "for the first time in our history the government has moved to outlaw a political party."

Baldwin also told a news conference it was a "remarkable coincidence" that the government should move against the Communist party during the same week when the Wallace "New Party" convention is to begin.

It says the party "pledges through negotiations and discussion with the Soviet Union, in good faith, to find areas of agreement to win the peace."

It condemns the Marshall plan and other aspects of U. S. foreign policy. It accuses the Republicans and Democrats of rejecting the United Nations and of obeying "the dictates of big business."

POLICY COVERS AN ABSOLUTE DETERMINATION "NOT TO BE DRIVEN FROM REICH CAPITAL"

London, July 21—(AP)—A responsible British official reported today that a new western power note protesting Russia's blockade of Berlin has been drafted and sent to Washington for review by top-ranking state department officials.

Washington, July 21—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall said today the United States will do everything possible in the Berlin crisis "to reach an acceptable solution and to avoid the tragedy of war for the world."

At a news conference, Marshall was told that there is presently a widespread fear of war in the world over the Berlin crisis between Soviet Russia and the western powers. He was asked to express his views on the situation.

In a statement which he later authorized for direct quotation, Marshall said:

"I can only say at this time that our position, I think, is well understood."

"We will not be coerced or intimidated in any way in our proceedings under the rights and responsibilities that we have in Berlin and generally in Germany."

WHAT "Stepping Down" MEANS TO YOU

Now the New Hudson, America's most streamlined car with the low silhouette, brings you roominess and comfort never before obtainable in an automobile.

You've seen them flashing by in all their sparkling color—those trim, gorgeous New Hudsons with the low, streamlined silhouette.

But have you really examined one of these amazing cars? They are the big news in the automobile world today!

Hudson, always known for great forward steps in the development of the automobile, and for efficient use of motive power, is again 'way out ahead' with a motor car that hits a new high in efficient use of space—that makes a greater percentage of its total space actually available for your use and comfort.

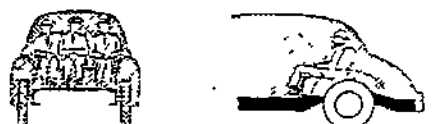

When you take a close look, you'll find that Hudson, through the use of a new, exclusive "step-down" zone, reclaims so much usually wasted space that this sensationally efficient car gives you more useful interior room than you've ever before experienced in an automobile.

This new kind of motor car has a sturdy foundation structure surrounding the passenger compartment, which permits the floor to be recessed down within the base frame so that you step down when entering. This makes space between frame members, which is usually wasted, available for use inside the car.

Seats can thus be lowered to harmonize with the new, lower top, and by stepping down into Hudson, which is only five feet from ground to top, you get more head room than in any other mass-produced car built today!

And how about seating room? Hudson's new design reclaims space formerly taken up by wheel housings and protruding fenders. This is accomplished by placing rear seats ahead of the rear wheels, in a zone unrestricted by wheel housings. As a result, rear seats are 16 inches wider in this car than in any other car of the body, giving Hudson the roomiest seats in any American-made car! Hudson's use of the "step-down" zone and unique seating arrangements are illustrated in the sketches that follow:

OTHER CARS—Passengers ride on top of a frame, as shown above, and (in the rear seat) between rear wheel housings, which occupy space that should be a part of seating room. Riving on top of a frame means that essential head room must be red cut if the roof is lowered for streamlining.

NEW HUDSON—You ride cradled down within Hudson's base frame, as shown above, and also ahead of the rear wheels. Seats can therefore extend full width of the car. Due to the use of the "step-down" zone, roof is lowered for streamlining, yet ample head room is provided.

The New Hudson even reclaims the unused space in doors by providing gorgeously tailored, recessed compartments where interior door handles, window cranks, ash receivers, and generous arm rests are placed out of the way to allow increased elbow room for passengers.

This development of Hudson's exclusive, all steel Monobuilt body-and-frame* with its "step-down" zone required years of engineering work, the perfection of new production techniques and millions of dollars in highly specialized new plant investment. This may be why Hudson, and Hudson alone, offers this important advance today!

"Stepping down" is so important to motor-car beauty, riding qualities and safety—as well as roominess and comfort—that the nearest Hudson dealer has a booklet—yours without obligation—fully explaining this design principle. Hudson Motor Car Company, Detroit 14.

Fence at Russell Field Comes Down

Good progress is reported by workmen in dismantling the metal fence on Russell field and re-installing it around the east and south sides of the new War Memorial field in Lexington avenue.

The Lexington avenue side of the field and a portion of the western edge is closed in with a cement slab style fence used extensively for athletic fields throughout the south.

Completion of the fence and installation of temporary bleachers

will enable the Warren high school football team to play its games at the new athletic center this year.

Hudson's use of the "step-down" zone and unique seating arrangements are illustrated in the sketches that follow:

OTHER CARS—Passengers ride on top of a frame, as shown above, and (in the rear seat) between rear wheel housings, which occupy space that should be a part of seating room. Riding on top of a frame means that essential head room must be reduced if the roof is lowered for streamlining.

NEW HUDSON—You ride cradled down within Hudson's base frame, as shown above, and also ahead of the rear wheels. Seats can therefore extend full width of the car. Due to the use of the "step-down" zone, roof is lowered for streamlining, yet ample head room is provided.

The New Hudson even reclaims the unused space in doors by providing gorgeously tailored, recessed compartments where interior door handles, window cranks, ash receivers, and generous arm rests are placed out of the way to allow increased elbow room for passengers.

This development of Hudson's exclusive, all steel Monobuilt body-and-frame with its "step-down" zone required years of engineering work, the perfection of new production techniques and millions of dollars in highly specialized new plant investment. This may be why Hudson, and Hudson alone, offers this important advance today!

"Stepping down" is so important to motor-car beauty, riding qualities and safety—as well as roominess and comfort—that the nearest Hudson dealer has a booklet—yours without obligation—fully explaining this design principle. Hudson Motor Car Company, Detroit 14.

A county prohibition meeting was held in the United Brethren church on Monday evening at which time the county committee was organized with the election of Rev. J. F. Collins as chairman. John Anderson was chosen vice-chairman, Mrs. Bess Walters is secretary and Rev. H. H. Atkins is treasurer. An executive committee of 12 members was also elected to complete the organization and will in turn elect other smaller committees and plan the work in coming months. Ladies of the church choir sang two temperance songs. Dr. R. R. Blews, state chairman, and Adrial Peters, of Erie, vice-chairman, were present at the meeting and Dr. Blews spoke at some length.

Fence at Russell Field Comes Down

Good progress is reported by workmen in dismantling the metal fence on Russell field and re-installing it around the east and south sides of the new War Memorial field in Lexington avenue.

The Lexington avenue side of the field and a portion of the western edge is closed in with a cement slab style fence used extensively for athletic fields throughout the south.

Completion of the fence and installation of temporary bleachers

will enable the Warren high school football team to play its games at the new athletic center this year.

Route 6 West Of Kane Will Be Improved

First step in the highway program that affects Route 6 between Kane and Ludlow will be publicly announced Friday when bids will be advertised for construction of a 22-foot highway extending 89,893 linear feet from Kane borough west along Route 6.

Contractors will be asked to place a formal bid on the construction which is to be reinforced cement concrete highway and is to include one bridge 18 feet long.

The bids identify the project only by calling it a proposal for construction of highway in McKean county, Wetmore and Hamilton townships on Route 6.

The length is given in linear feet, which brings the mileage figure to about 5.65 miles. The actual line from the borough line to the widened highway east of Ludlow may be slightly over that figure, but surveys may shorten that distance by eliminating curves.

Bids for the project will be opened August 13 at Harrisburg and awards will be made shortly after that day. While no specific plans can be announced by the State Department of Highways, the route thus coming winter is a big question mark.

If an award is made and work begun shortly after August 13 the highway will be torn up during the winter, or parts of it at least. If the work is postponed until spring the highway will remain as it is now—or worse with the heavy traffic it will absorb in the next few months.

The 22-foot width, called for in the advertisement is two feet wider than the present pavement. While nothing indicates any three-lane traffic the added two feet can be the means of averting accidents.

Improvement of the stretch of highway, coupled with the improved section from Warren west, puts a stop temporarily at least to agitations for a re-routing of the transcontinental highway through the Kinzua section.

Store Picnic At Wildcat Is Much Enjoyed

Employees of the Betty Lee Shop in Second avenue, enjoyed a picnic Tuesday evening at Wildcat Park at Ludlow.

The party drove to the park at the close of business hours and divided into two groups, the first preparing the food; the second enjoying the swimming and games.

Dinner was soon served, consisting of a table loaded with hamburgers and all the trimmings, salads, soft drinks and coffee, with ice cream and chocolate cake for desert. Reports indicate everyone ate too much but enjoyed doing so.

When the table had been cleared, more games were played and everyone laughed until his sides ached at the comedy acts. The group left the park at ten o'clock after an outing declared very successful in every way.

The committee for the affair consisted of Mrs. Ann Tingwall and Mrs. Arthur Jackson. Also in attendance were Minnie Koebler, Mrs. Dorothy Scott, Mrs. Lucille Bartsch, Charlotte Jones, Joan Finley, Mary More, Edward Devore, Lawrence Ringwall, Jacob and Hyman Levinson.

One Plant Has Seven Four-Leaf Clovers

Mrs. Clair W. Proud, of 107 Orchard street, ought to have lots of good luck—four-leaf clovers are any indication.

She was sowing her dog in a sand pit near the Warren County Dairy Association building when she found seven four-leaf clovers growing on one plant. The same plant also had produced three five-leaf clovers and at least six of the ordinary three-leaf variety.

Mrs. Proud, who exhibited her unique find at the Times-Mirror office yesterday, said she has found over 100 single four-leaf clovers so far this year.

Chapter 10

THE taxi took me down the street past Dr. Stokes's house and I made it stop two corners beyond. There I paid the driver off, walked back a little way, and was able to see that there was a light upstairs on his side of the duplex where the master bedroom must be. I sat down on the curb to wait.

Finally the light went off upstairs in the doctor's house. I waited a couple of minutes more. His car came rolling out of the drive way and up the street past me.

The garage was attached to the house, with a door leading in I went in and shut the door after me.

I concentrated on Dr. Stokes's quarters, opening his closet and pawing in among his suits on their hangers. The third or fourth I pulled out and carried to the window for a close look was the black-and-white tweed.

I studied the cuffs. Each was decorated with three buttons in a row and no empty place to show where a button was missing. But one of the three on the right cuff wasn't black with white flecks, like the others. It was plain black and to judge by how tight its thread was it had been very recently sewed on.

I hung the suit back up and tried to make everything look as it had looked when I first touched it. As I walked away along the street, I realized how much of the evening I had still ahead of me.

I called the Ealing number. "This is Mr. Yates, the investigator," I said. "Is Mrs. Ealing there?"

"She went out a while ago."

As if he wanted to keep the blood from settling in it and making it hurt worse, "I want to look at something tonight," I announced. "Not my hand?"

"No, I want to see the place where you got hurt. The tool shed."

He got up and went to a sideboard, pulled open a drawer with his left hand and got out a flashlight.

The interior of the shed was full of tools, everything as clean and orderly as on a military post. All but the sickles—five of them, lying scattered on the concrete floor next to the rear wall. There were blotches of blood leading from them to the door.

The hole in the two-by-four was uneven instead of round. Below the nail hole I could see a slight dent in the wood, a dent made by heavy pressure of something hard and flat—the head of a hammer, say, set there so that the claws go around the nail head, and then pushed strongly against the wood to pry.

"Who drove this nail, Petty?" I called.

"I did," he answered from the door.

That was years ago, wasn't it? And you drove the nail in hard and straight. You don't have to tell me you're the type that would do a good job, even driving nails. Now what happened to that same nail?"

I stooped to look among the scattered sickles. After a moment I found the nail. It was lying under the blade of one sickle. I carefully poked it into the wood. On the point of a pencil and picked it up.

It was a sixpenny, cast out of iron, the kind you can buy anywhere if there doesn't happen to be a hardware shortage. Toward the point it was bright, where it had been in the wood. On the rusty part of the shank, close to the head, was something else, a bit of black not much larger than a match head, that stood out clear on the dull red.

I stepped back under the hanging globe and bent and scowled to see my clearest. The black blob was tar, dried hard. Across its upper surface was a thin sliced-in depression, made by a well sharpened edge.

The one that had blood flecks on it was the most brightly and carefully sharpened. I knew why at once. It was the sickle that hung first to hand.

On the edge was a bit of black contrasting with the stale red of the blood. Tar, I turned my attention to the nail again. The bright part that had been sunk into the wood was more than just unruined. It gleamed as it—well, as if it had been greased. From my pocket I took the envelope in which J. D. had put the note for me. I dropped the nail inside and returned the envelope to my vest pocket, next to the one that held the black-and-white button. Then I rejoined Pettigrew. I turned out the light, locked the door and paused with the key in my hand.

"You carry this key with you all of the time," I suggested.

Pettigrew shook his head. "No. It hangs in the kitchen with some other keys. But I didn't happen to take it out of my pocket again after cutting myself."

"You sharpen these things every week in a certain routine way, on a certain day. Probably around four o'clock, you said."

He replied, mildly correcting me. "But this time Mr. Dick asked me to drive with my wife to look at some berries he wanted her to see. They were for sale at a roadside stand in the country."

"What kind of berries?" I asked, and it was really an idle question.

"No kind worth mentioning. They weren't as good as Mr. Dick had seemed to think."

"Well, your day for sharpening things this last week seems to have been quite an eventful one, Petty," I said.

He did the key into my pocket. We went back to the house together. I took the address of the roadside berry stand and said goodbye to him and his scowling wife.

Contractors will be asked to place a formal bid on the construction which is to be reinforced cement concrete highway and is to include one bridge 18 feet long. The bids identify the project only by calling it a proposal for construction of highway in McKean county, Wetmore and Hamilton townships on Route 6.

The length is given in linear feet, which brings the mileage figure to about 5.66 miles. The actual mileage from the borough line to the widened highway east of Ludlow may be slightly over that figure, but surveys may shorten that distance by eliminating curves.

Bids for the project will be opened August 13 at Harrisburg and awards will be made shortly after that day. While no specific plans can be announced by the State Department of Highways, the route this coming winter is a big question mark. If an award is made and work begun shortly after August 13 the highway will be torn up during the winter, or parts of it at least. If the work is postponed until spring the highway will remain as is now—or worse with the heavy traffic it will absorb in the next few months.

The 22-foot width called for in the advertisement is two feet wider than the present pavement. While nothing indicates any three-lane traffic the added two feet can be the means of averting accidents.

Improvement of the stretch of highway, coupled with the improvement of the section from Warren west, puts a stop, temporarily at least, to agitations for a re-routing of the transcontinental highway through the Kinzua section.

One Plant Has Seven
Four-Leaf Clovers

Mrs. Clair W. Proud, of 107 Orchard street, ought to have lots of good luck—if four-leaf clovers are any indication.

She was airing her dog in a sand pit near the Warren County Dairy Association building when she found seven four-leaf clovers growing on one plant. The same plant also had produced three five-leaf clovers and at least six of the ordinary three-leaf variety.

Mrs. Proud, who exhibited her unique find at the Times-Mirror office yesterday, said she has found over 100 single four-leaf clovers so far this year.

Find My Killer

By MANLY WELLMAN

Chapter 10
THE taxi took me down the street past Dr. Stokes's house and I made it stop two corners beyond. There I paid the driver off, walked back a little way, and was able to see that there was a light upstairs on his side of the duplex where the master bedroom must be. I sat down on the curb to wait.

Finally the light went off upstairs in the doctor's house. I waited a couple of minutes more. His car came rolling out of the drive way and up the street past me.

The garage was attached to the house, with a door leading in. I went in and shut the door after me.

I concentrated on Dr. Stokes's quarters, opening his closet and pawing in among his suits on their hangers. The third or fourth I pulled out and carried to the window for a close look was the black-and-white tweed.

I studied the cuffs. Each was decorated with three buttons in a row and no empty place to show where a button was missing. But one of the three on the right cuff wasn't black with white flecks, like the others. It was plain black and to judge by how tight its thread was it had been very recently sewed on.

I hung the suit back up and tried to make everything look as it had looked when I first touched it. As I walked away along the street, I realized how much of the evening I had still ahead of me.

I called the Ealing number. "This is Mr. Yates, the investigator," I said. "Is Mrs. Ealing there?"

"She went out a while ago." Then I remembered that I wanted to visit Diane Ealing's place in her absence. "Mrs. Pettigrew," I said. "I want to talk to your husband. I'm coming over."

Mrs. Pettigrew met me at the door and took me back to the kitchen, where her husband sat with his elbow on a table and his sore hand sticking up in the air, as if he wanted to keep the blood from settling in it and making it hurt worse. "I want to look at something tonight," I announced. "Not my hand?"

"No, I want to see the place where you got hurt. The tool shed."

He got up and went to a sideboard, pulled open a drawer with his left hand and got out a flashlight.

THE interior of the shed was full of tools, everything as clean and orderly as on a military post. All but the sickles—five of them, lying scattered on the concrete floor next to the rear wall. There were blotches of blood leading from them to the door.

The hole in the two-by-four was uneven instead of round. Below the nail hole I could see a slight dent in the wood, a dent made by heavy pressure of something hard and flat—the head of a hammer, say, set there so that the claws go around the nail head, and then pushed strongly against the wood to pry.

"Who drove this nail, Petty?" I called.

"I did," he answered from the door.

"That was years ago, wasn't it? And you drove the nail in hard and straight? You don't have to tell me, you're the type that would do a good job, even driving nails. Now what happened to that same nail?"

I stepped to look among the scattered sticks. After a moment I found the nail. It was lying under the blade of one sickle. I carefully poked it into the clear with the point of a pencil and picked it up.

It was a sixpenny, cast out of iron, the kind you can buy anywhere if there doesn't happen to be a hardware shortage. Toward the point it was bright, where it had bedded into the wood. On the rusty part of the shank, close to the head, was something else, a bit of black not much larger than at match head, that stood out clear on the dull red.

I stepped back under the hanging globe and bent and scowled to see my clearest. The black blob was tar, dried hard. Across its upper surface was a thin sliced-in depression, made by a well sharpened edge.

The one that had blood flecks on it was the most brightly and carefully sharpened. I knew why at once. It was the sickle that hung on first to hand.

On the edge was a bit of black, contrasting with the stale red of the blood. Tar. I turned my attention to the nail again. The bright part that had been sunk into the wood was more than just unrusty. It gleamed as if—well, as if it had been greased. From my pocket I took the envelope in which J. D. had put the note for me. I dropped the nail inside and returned the envelope to my vest pocket, next to the one that held the black-and-white button. Then I rejoined Pettigrew. I turned out the light, locked the door and paused with the key in my hand.

"You carry this key with you all of the time?" I suggested.

Pettigrew shook his head. "No. It hangs in the kitchen with some other keys. But I didn't happen to take it out of my pocket again after cutting myself."

"You sharpen these things every week in a certain routine way, on a certain day. Probably even a certain hour of the day," he replied, mildly correcting me.

"But this time Mr. Dick asked me to drive with my wife to look at some berries he wanted her to eat. They were for sale at a roadside stand in the country."

"What kind of berries?" I asked, and it was really an idle question.

"No kind worth mentioning. They weren't as good as Mr. Dick had seemed to think."

"Well, your day for sharpening things this last week seems to have been quite an eventful one, Petty," I said.

I said the key into my pocket. We went back to the house together. I took the address of the roadside berry stand and said goodbye to him and his scowling wife.

New York—Twelve U. S. Communist party leaders and members were indicted today on charges of advocating the overthrow of the United States government. . . .

Cairo—Jewish sources in Haifa said today that fighting (with Arabs) still was going on in northern Palestine on the third day of the truce imposed by the United Nations. A main Cairo thoroughfare was blasted last night when a single unidentified plane raided the Egyptian capital. . . .

Trenton, N. J.—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll today ordered the reactivation of the entire New Jersey civilian defense program. . . .

WOODY WOODPECKER HAIRCUT

According to an Associated Press dispatch the woody woodpecker, inspiration for the current song hit, is responsible for a new haircut for the kiddies, which you may already have noticed in Warren.

Our Hollywood correspondent says the woody woodpecker coiffure has just come off Hair Stylist Al Tate's idea-production line. All you boys have to do to sport one this summer is to have your barber trim your hair so it brushes up from your ears. From a topknot like Woody's. Tate says it's as cool as a butch or crew cut.

For the girls, the woody cut involves the same procedure, except that the topknot is formed of soft curls. The hair must be brushed smooth in back.

If the topknot keeps slipping forward, be nonchalant. Woody's hair does that, too, when he rattles his beak against a pine knot.

Ho, ho, ho, he-e-o-o, he!

INSPECTION TIME

Within another week there will be the usual rush to have motor vehicles inspected. It should not be necessary to remind the owner of an automobile or truck that you have only until midnight, July 31 to have that car put in safe condition.

Already local inspection stations report a busy week ahead with orders already in. Don't wait until the last minute and expect to have an immediate inspection made.

Delay may mean that the work can not be finished in time for you to have a sticker when you drive your motorvehicle on the highways Sunday, August first.

Some fellows don't know when they're licked. The rest are married.

There is just as much sense in worrying as there is in advising your friends not to.

Paris—Communists proposed today that their leader, Maurice Thorez, be designated the new French premier to head a coalition government of Socialists and Communists. . . .

New York—Twelve U. S. Communist party leaders and members were indicted today on charges of advocating the overthrow of the United States government.

Cairo—Jewish sources in Haifa said today that fighting (with Arabs) still was going on in northern Palestine on the third day of the truce imposed by the United Nations. A main Cairo thoroughfare was blasted last night when a single unidentified plane raided the Egyptian capital.

Trenton, N. J.—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll today ordered the reactivation of the entire New Jersey civilian defense program.

WOODY WOODPECKER HAIRCUT

According to an Associated Press dispatch the woody woodpecker, inspiration for the current song hit, is responsible for a new haircut for the kiddies, which you may already have noticed in Warren.

Our Hollywood correspondent says the woody woodpecker coiffure has just come off Hair Stylist Al Tate's idea-production line. All you boys have to do to sport one this summer is to have your barber trim your hair so it brushes up from your ears. From a topknot like Woody's. Tate says it's as cool as a butch or crew cut.

For the girls, the woody cut involves the same procedure, except that the topknot is formed of soft curls. The hair must be brushed smooth in back.

If the topknot keeps slipping forward, be nonchalant. Woody's hair does that, too, when he rattles his beak against a pine knot.

Ho, ho, ho, he-o-o-o, ho!

INSPECTION TIME

Within another week there will be the usual rush to have motor vehicles inspected. It should not be necessary to remind the owner of an automobile or truck that you have only until midnight, July 31 to have that car put in safe condition.

Already local inspection stations report a busy week ahead with orders already in. Don't wait until the last minute and expect to have an immediate inspection made.

Delay may mean that the work can not be finished in time for you to have a sticker when you drive your motorvehicle on the highways Sunday, August first.

Truman's Foreign Policy: Others Ran It

He Gave Job to Those Who Knew More About It, and Let Them Handle It

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of three dispatches on the record of Harry S. Truman as President, written by the chief of NEA's Washington bureau who has closely followed Mr. Truman's political career since before he moved into the White House.)

By PETER EDSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The outstanding fact about President Harry S. Truman's administration record in foreign policy is that, by and large, he has let people who knew more about it than he did run it.

Historians will record some pretty important developments in U. S. foreign policy in the first four post-war years: The so-called Truman Doctrine of aid to Communist-threatened countries in danger of losing their independence, the so-called Marshall Plan for aid to Europe, U. S. trusteeship over the Pacific Islands, the British Loan, unification of Western Germany and currency reform in that area, the shaping of atomic energy policy at home as well as abroad, the Rio and Bogota Pan-American Conference declaration, the Geneva and Havana conferences which drafted the International Trade Organization charter, the San Francisco Conference which drafted the United Nations Charter, the setting up of the United Nations as a going concern.

Practically the first thing Harry Truman had to do when he took over the Presidency after Roosevelt's death was make the decision on whether to go ahead with the San Francisco Conference. He decided it should go on. What's more, he prevailed upon Stalin to send Molotov to the conference to signify Russia's full participation. What's still more, when Molotov arrived in Washington on his way to San Francisco, he saw the President three times. In these conferences, Mr. Truman talked to Molotov in pretty tough terms, telling him—for the first time that anyone had dared lay down the law to the Russians—just what they could and could not have in the United Nations Charter.

As long as Mr. Truman confined his conduct of foreign policy to this simple and direct support of policies worked out by his experts, the President got along all right.

In the selection of his top advisers and administrators in foreign affairs, the President's record generally is good. He inherited E. S. Stettinius as Secretary of State. Kicking Stettinius upstairs to be the first U. S. representative at the United Nations, Mr. Truman appointed James F. Byrnes.

Byrnes spent most of his time away from his office, conferring in the Council of Foreign Ministers and getting agreement on the first peace treaties with Italy, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland. In his absence, the man who ran the State Department was Under-Secretary of State Dean Acheson. And the real credit for planning and directing the major constructive policies of the Truman administration probably belongs to Acheson more than to anyone else.

It was Acheson who played the initial role in the work of the Lathrop Commission that shaped U. S. policy on international control of atomic energy. It was Acheson who recognized the importance of keeping the Dardanelles free from complete Russian monopoly control—first saw the need for bolstering up Greece and Turkey and so conceived what later became known as the Truman Doctrine. It was Acheson who made the first speech outlining the need for further aid to Western European nations.

Secretary of State George Marshall repeated this idea in a speech at Harvard on June 5, 1947, shortly after Acheson had resigned from the Department because he couldn't afford to work any longer at government pay. British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin picked up the idea and accepted it from Marshall's speech, and so it became known as the Marshall Plan.

Marshall had succeeded Byrnes as Secretary of State in 1947 after a futile year in China, trying to get the Communists and Nationalists to unite. In general, Mr. Truman has let Marshall run foreign policy and the State Department and his conduct of the office has had a popular support.

If this delegation of authority—giving a man a job and then letting him run it—is the test of a good administrator, then President Truman may be said to have that talent. Marshall's defeat in China, in the United Nations, in the Council of Foreign Ministers attempting to write German and Austrian peace treaties—are entirely pardonable. Probably no human being could have done better.

Under the bi-partisan or non-partisan conduct of foreign policy, Marshall had the advice and collaboration of the best Republican minds—Ambassador Austin at UN, Senator Vandenberg, John Foster Dulles and others. Solutions were impossible simply because the Russians would not cooperate. That is neither to Truman's credit nor discredit.

It is when Mr. Truman has tried to take a direct hand in foreign policy that the results have not been too happy. This is a judgment of hindsight, and the President frequently says that any schoolboy's hindsight is better than the most gifted statesman's foresight.

But the results of the Potsdam Conference in July, 1945, where Mr. Truman and Byrnes met Stalin and Molotov, Churchill and Acheson in the only post-war conference of the Big Three now show rather clearly that too many things were left to chance and later settlement. This was the conference that was to button up the war on Germany, reparations, Japan, Korea, Europe—everything. It just hasn't worked.

The same is true on the handling of Palestine and Chinese affairs.

Aside from his message to Congress, President Truman's most important foreign policy declaration was his Navy Day address in New York in 1945. It was largely a restatement of the principles of the Atlantic Charter.

Mr. Truman himself has contributed little new to foreign policy, though his administration has gone steadily ahead on the bi-partisan program laid out before he became President. And if re-elected there is no reason to believe he would not continue along that road.

Next: Truman, the human.

The matron of honor, Loretta Barkman, wore pink chiffon over matching taffeta, with shoulder length veil and a colonial bouquet of yellow carnations. The bridesmaids, Beatrice Clark and Ruth Cook, were in blue taffeta, with shoulder length veils and bouquets of pink carnations. Center Of Attraction

A brilliant camellia takes the spotlight in a scene from "The God of Creation", religious-scientific film to be shown at 8 p. m. Saturday, July 31, in the Sugar Grove Presbyterian church. Producer Irvin Moon, from the Moody Institute of Science, adjusts the camera for lapse-time photography. Using what are probably the first time-compressed colored movies of the photosynthesis of a leaf, Preacher-scientist Moon reveals new secrets of nature in his sound film. It was produced in the Los Angeles laboratory of Moody Institute of Science and has already been shown to more than two million people. It will be projected by Ranken Moffitt, Moody film representative. In the first sequence, space and its galaxy of stars are explored through the telescope of Mt. Wilson Observatory. Then, in sharp contrast to the immensities of the universe, the wonders of the everyday world are colorfully portrayed. In this part of the film, plants grow and buds blossom in a few seconds and closeup shots show a caterpillar wiggling into the butterfly stage. For the third part of the film, Dr. Moon permits his audience to examine the minute perfection of the microscopic world. Sunlight falls on leaves, manufacturing leaf-food in the process of photosynthesis. Through photomicrography millions of parametes are seen swimming in a single drop of water.

There was no immediate indication of the extent to which the $9.34 a ton boost would affect the consumer.

Many consumers already face higher costs due to the general abandonment of the basing point system of quoting steel prices.

U. S. Steel and others voluntarily changed to an F.O.B. mill basis of quoting prices from the basing point system which the U. S. Supreme court held illegal in the cement industry.

dent said he signed with reluctance, will allow admission of 200,000 displaced persons in the U. S. Ross said the president also will call for:

Passage of a pending measure to provide federal grants of $300,000,000 annually to the states for aid to education; and

Immediate enactment of legislation passing the minimum wage from 40 to at least 75 cents an hour.

Ross said he doubts there will be a new recommendation on universal military training. Herbert Brownell, Jr., Dewey's campaign manager, has made it plain that the New York governor does not think congress ought to stay around all summer in an effort to write the Republican platform into law.

Brownell told a news conference yesterday the platform can be enacted only "by a Republican congress under the leadership of a Republican president." He added: "Obviously this cannot be done at a rump session called by a political convention for political purposes in the heat of a political campaign."

Brownell said these words represented his own view, but he conceded he had consulted Dewey in advance about their "substance." The campaign director said he used the term "rump" session because he doesn't believe congress should be called into session except in case of a national emergency now.

Headed by Brownell, Dewey's entourage moved into offices here to begin direction of the national campaign and to keep the lines open between the Republican nominee, summing at his farm in Pawling, and members of congress. His chief assistants will be J. Russell Sprague, New York national committeeman, and Rep. Leonard W. Hall, of New York, chairman of the GOP congressional campaign committee.

Rep. Hugh D. Scott, Jr. (Pa.), Dewey's choice for Republican national chairman, will be another in the chain of command.

Toby Lyons to Face Leading Golf Pros in 45th Western Open Tournament at Buffalo

Toby Lyons, Conewango Valley Country Club pro, who gave a good account of himself in last year's annual Dapper Dan golf tournament at Pittsburgh last week, will mix it up with the leading professionals of the country again this month when the 45th Western Open Championship is played at the Brookfield Country Club at Buffalo from July 20 through Aug. 1.

The Western Open, sponsored by the J. N. Adam & Company sports foundation, is a plus championship for selection to the 1949 Ryder Cup team which will meet the best that Britain has to offer.

Ryder Cup members are selected by the Professional Golfers' Association on the basis of tournament results. The ten highest point winners will represent the United States in the International matches.

In the PGA sponsored event 228 Ryder Cup points are at stake, with the winner getting the lion's share and the next nine money winners being credited with the balance. The Western Open, which is conducted exclusively by Western Golf Association, is however, worth 260 points, with the winner getting 60 of the 260 Ryder Cup points on top of the $25,000 for first place prize money. The Western Open ranks with the Masters and PGA titles for Ryder Cup selection.

To date the leading Ryder Cup contestants—as the 260 points to be earned at Buffalo loom large—include Ben Hogan (439), Jimmy Demaret (339), Skip Alexander (332), Lloyd Mangrum (246). Other leading contenders are John Palmer (Western Open title holder); Chick Herbert; E. J. Harrison; Sam Snead; Lawson Little; Claude Harmon.

All the leading Ryder Cup contenders will be in Buffalo July 29 through August 1, together with the leading amateurs including Skeg Riegle, Western Amateur Champion and National Amateur Champion, together with James R. McHale, Jr., Philadelphia, runner-up to Riegle in the 1948 Western Amateur played at Wichita, Kansas on the 4th of July weekend.

Warren Vets Bump Franklin VFW In Elimination Series

The Warren Vets baseball nine won the first round of a statewide V.F.W. elimination series last night by bumping the Franklin Vets, 6 to 4, on Oil City Refiners' field. The aggregation will now face the Clarion V.F.W. next week, with the date and site to be announced later.

The local squad took a one-run lead in the first inning and were never headed.

R. Kifer was robbed of a circuit blow when Harton made a beautiful catch of a long fly to the 375-foot mark in centerfield. Brown evened the score, however, by whipping a ball from deep in the outfield to Baker at first for a double out against Franklin.

The scrap was hard fought throughout, with Dick Kifer, the winning moundman, whiffing 14 batters, issuing four walks and yielding five hits. While, toiling the rubber for Franklin, fanned seven men, yielded four free passes and gave up seven hits.

The Vets will play a Sunset League tilt tonight at 6:30 o'clock against their arch rivals, the Glendora Coffee nine, on State Hospital field. At the same time, State Hospital will tangle with Struthers Wells on Russell field.

Dodgers' Climb To Tie For Second Revives Pennant Talk

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Brooklyn Dodgers are making the pennant talk of their president, Branch Rickey, and their new manager, Burt Shotton, sound like something more than idle chatter.

In last place a little more than two weeks ago and apparently hopelessly out of the National League pennant race, the revived Dodgers today are right back in the thick of the pennant fight, trailing only the front-running Boston Braves.

Brooklyn has played the best baseball in the league over the past 18 days. During the stretch, the Dodgers have won 14 and lost only three for an 82.4 percentage.

Their 5-0 victory over the Cubs in Chicago yesterday, together with Boston's 9-6 loss to the Reds in Cincinnati advanced the Dodgers within six and a half games of the Braves. They are only four games behind in the important losing side.

The Pittsburgh Pirates virtually share second place with Brooklyn, but the Dodgers possess a .0004 of a percentage lead over the Bucs. Brooklyn has won 41 and lost 38 for .518, while the Pirates have won 39 and lost 39 for .515.

Red Barney, the strong-armed right-hander, for whom the Dodgers have been waiting since 1943 to find himself, pitched the first shutout of his major league career in blanking the Cubs with seven hits.

The joy of Brooklyn's victory was dampened somewhat by an injury to centerfielder Carl Furillo in batting practice. Furillo's nose was broken when he was hit by a line drive from the bat of Coach Ray Blaine. He is expected to be out for about a week.

The Pirates crushed the Philadelphia Phils, 11-2, in a night game in Pittsburgh. The Pirates clinched the game in the eighth with six runs, three of them coming on Ed Fitzgerald's first home run of the season.

Home runs by Johnny Wyrostek, Ted Kuszewski and Danny Littwhiler accounted for six Cincinnati runs and gave the Reds a 9-0 victory over the Braves.

The scheduled game between the Giants and Cardinals in St. Louis was postponed because of rain. The Cardinals caused the Cardinals to drop from a three-way tie for second place to fourth.

The oncoming Boston Red Sox gained valuable ground on the three leaders in the American League, picking up a full game on Cleveland, Philadelphia and New York. Joe McCarthy's fourth platoon defeated the St. Louis Browns, 8-3, to move within a game of the third place Yankees.

The Yankees bowed to Detroit, 2-1, the same score by which Washington knocked off the first place Indians. The cellar-dwelling Chicago White Sox defeated the Detroit Tigers, 5-2. The Indians now enjoy a one game bulge over the Red Sox and the Yankees and a half game and the Red Sox by four and a half.

U. S. Athletes Troop Down Gangplank at Southampton

Southampton, England, July 21.—(AP)—The bulk of the United States Olympic team—282 athletes—trooped down the gangplank of the S. S. America at 7 a.m. this morning and a flood high-spiritedly through the customs inspections.

For the customs officers they listed items ranging from tiny goodluck charms to 16-ft. bamboo poles carried by pole vaulters.

An hour after leaving the ship they climbed into a fleet of buses and departed for London. Most of the men went to the Olympic village, a converted RAF center at suburban Uxbridge. Most of the girls are being put up at Southlands College in Wimbledon. Clouds intermittently shut out the sun. The temperature was moderate for England, but felt cold to athletes fresh from the United States heat.

There was only one sour note. John Brooks, of Green Farms, Conn., a Yale University rower who is alternate for two and four-oared shells, became ill with a high fever. He was put in an ambulance for a trip to St. Mary's Hospital in London. The nature of his illness awaited diagnosis.

Top Golfers Entered in Reading Open

Reading, July 21.—(AP)—Bentley Ben Hogan and Lloyd Mangrum carry their tee-for-tee battle for the golf circuit's leading money winning honors to Reading tomorrow.

Mangrum, former U. S. Open champion from Niles, Ill., regulated the lead in the greenback race when he picked up $1,275 in last week's Dapper Dan Invitation Tournament at Pittsburgh. He now has a 1948 total of $20,421.99 as against Hogan's $20,197.36.

Hogan, Hershey, Pa., golf master, passed up the Dapper Dan and has been resting for this $15,000 second annual Reading Open over the rolling 6,740-yard Berkshire Country Club course.

Hogan, U. S. Open and PGA champion, will be making one of his infrequent appearances in his adopted state. The native Texan will have to be in top form to take down prize money as most of the nation's first sight golfers will be in the four day 72 hole competition.

More than 150 linksmen, including E. J. Dutch Harrison, Little Rock, Ark., defending champion, will tee off in the first round. Harrison fired a seven-under-par 277 in winning last year's first prize money.

Know Your Golf Shots

By HERMAN BARRON
Written Especially for AP Newsfeatures
(Last of a Series)

Putting is very important, in fact it's the most important shot in golf. It's on the greens that golf championships are won and lost.

Almost every prostar putts differently. I find the best method in putting is with an open stance.

I use the same overlapping grip in putting as in all my other shots. The only exception is that my left hand is turned under slightly with the back of my hand almost in a direct line with the cup.

Be smooth in your putting and grip the club very lightly. You can attain a smooth putting touch with a long, slow backswing of the left hand on a straight line and then swing the clubhead through the ball with right hand.

I use a very heavy putter because I was putting short until five years ago when I had 3 or 4 ounces of brass added to the back of the putter. But the slow, smooth backswing works well even if your putter is on the light side.

Greenes, Sugar Grove, East Side and Clarendon Emerge Victorious In Junior Tilts

G. G. Greenes, Sugar Grove, East Side and Clarendon posted victories in the Junior Baseball League games last night, two of which were the playoffs of postponed scraps.

Phil Colosimo pitched two hit ball for the Greenes in setting down the Starbuck nine, 4-2, on Kings field in the West Side.

Sugar Grove threw a surprise into the league circles by tripping the fast stepping Conewango Elks, also by a 4-2 score, with Don Spencer handling the mound chores for the victors. He limited the Elks to two safeties while his mates were nicking Dick Christensen for three safeties.

East Side led its game with Youngsville on Russell field last night with four runs in the sixth frame. The Warren squad solved E. Haight for six hits, including a triple by Reed, while Smith, winning moundman, limited Youngsville to three singles and a double by Johnson.

In the fourth game of the evening, Clarendon, pace setters for the Junior loop, kept its slate clean by trouncing North Warren, 15 to 8. Baker and Vesling shared mound duty for Clarendon, while L. Campman toed the rubber for North Warren.

The Vandergrift-Pioneers broke even with the Butler Yanks in a doubleheader last night to climb within a half game of the Uniontown Coal Barons, leaders of the Middle Atlantic League.

Eddie Kampa hurled two-hit ball to give Vandergrift a 3-0 win in the first game but in the second the Yanks staged an 11-run, eighth-inning uprising to come from behind and win 13-7.

Uniontown meanwhile was losing a humiliating 9-0 game to the cellar-dwelling New Castle chiefs.

Red Thomas held the Barons to four hits, all singles, and allowed no man to reach third. After 70 pitchers had allowed nine runs in 3 2/3 innings, Uniontown Manager Bill Mongie stalked in from third base and pitched the rest of the game, giving only two hits in 4 1/3 frames.

Walter Cox allowed only three hits as he pitched the Erie Sailors to a 3-0 win over the Oil City Refiners, the league's third shutout of the evening. It was Cox's 10th win against three losses.

Johnstown used homers by Manager Roy Nichols, George Freese and Chris Kitzos to defeat the Youngstown Colts, 4-2. Pitcher Lew Jones allowed only five hits and permitted only one Colt to reach base in the last five innings.

LONG DROUGHT
Cincinnati — (AP) — The last member of the Cincinnati Reds to win the National League home run championship was outfielder Fred Odwell, who copped the crown in 1935 with a total of nine circuit blasts. The all-time Cincinnati record is held by Ivan Gooden who blasted 30 in 1938. Mel Ott won the crown that year with 36.

Toby Lyons to Face Leading Golf Pros in 45th Western Open Tournament at Buffalo

Toby Lyons, Conewango Valley Country Club pro, who gave a good account of himself in fast company in the annual Dapper Dan golf tournament at Pittsburgh last week, will mix it up with the leading professionals of the country again this month when the 45th Western Open Championship is played at the Brookfield Country club at Buffalo from July 29 through Aug. 1.

The Western Open, sponsored by the J. N. Adam & Company sports foundation, is a plus championship for selection to the 1948 Ryder Cup team which will meet the best that Britain has to offer.

Ryder Cup members are selected by the Professional Golfers' Association on the basis of tournament results. The ten highest point winners will represent the United States in the International matches.

In each PGA sponsored event 228 Ryder Cup points are at stake, with the winner getting the lion's share and the next nine money winners being credited with the balance. The Western Open, which is conducted exclusively by Western Golf Association, is however, worth 260 points, with the winner getting 80 of the 260 Ryder Cup points on top of the $25,000 for first place prize money. The Western Open ranks with the Masters and PGA titles for Ryder Cup selection.

To date the leading Ryder Cup contestants—as the 260 points to be earned at Buffalo loom large—include Ben Hogan (429); Jimmy Demaret (339); Skip Alexander (332); Lloyd Mangrum (246). Other leading contenders are John Palmer (Western Open titleholder); Chick Herbert; E. J. Harrison; Sam Snead; Lawson Little; Claude Harmon.

All the leading Ryder Cup contenders will be in Buffalo July 29 through August 1, together with the leading amateurs including, Skee Riegel, Western Amateur Champion and National Amateur Champion, together with James R. McHale, Jr., Philadelphia, runner-up to Riegel in the 1948 Western Amateur played at Wichita, Kansas on the 4th of July weekend.

Incidentally, here's what Johnny Nelson, who writes the "Sports Corner" for the Bradford Era, had to say about Lyon's seventh place performance in the Dapper Dan event:

"After what happened in the Dapper Dan golf tournament in Pittsburgh last weekend, it's somewhat easier to appreciate the ability of this fellow Toby Lyons, who has been blistering area courses and grabbing off all honors.

"The Dapper Dan event attracted a long string of big golf stars. Dutch Harrison, a member of the U. S. Ryder Cup team, finished with 295. Toby had 287.

"Dick Metz, runner-up in the U. S. Open, finished with 290. Toby had 287.

"Low Worsham, former U. S. Open Champion, turned in 297. Toby had 287.

"Billworth Vines, the 11th leading money winner among the pros last year, registered 291. Toby had 287.

Warren Vets Bump Franklin VFW In Elimination Series

The Warren Vets baseball nine won the first round of a statewide V.F.W. elimination series last night by bumping the Franklin Vets, 6 to 4, on Oil City Refiners' field. The aggregation will now face the Clarion V.F.W. next week, with the date and site to be announced later.

The local squad took a one-run lead in the first inning and were never headed.

R. Kifer was robbed of a circuit blow when Harton made a beautiful catch of a long fly to the 375-foot mark in centerfield. Brown evened the score, however, by whipping a ball from deep in the outfield to Baker at first for a double out against Franklin.

The scrap was hard fought throughout, with Dick Kifer, the winning moundman, whiffing 14 batters, issuing four walks and yielding five hits. While, toting the rubber for Franklin, fanned seven men, yielded four free passes and gave up seven hits.

The Vets will play a Sunset League tilt tonight at 6:30 o'clock against their arch rivals, the Glendora Coffee nine, on State Hospital field. At the same time, State Hospital will tangle with Struthers Wells on Russell field.

Dodgers' Climb To Tie For Second Revives Pennant Talk

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Brooklyn Dodgers are making the pennant talk of their present, Branch Rickey, and their new manager, Burt Shotton, sound like something more than idle chatter.

In last place a little more than two weeks ago and apparently hopelessly out of the National League pennant race, the revived Dodgers today are right back in the thick of the pennant fight, trailing only the front-running Boston Braves.

Brooklyn has played the best baseball in the league over the past 18 days. During the stretch, the Dodgers have won 14 and lost only three for an .824 percentage.

Their 5-0 victory over the Cubs in Chicago yesterday together with Boston's 9-6 loss to the Reds in Cincinnati advanced the Reds within six and a half games of the Braves. They are only four games behind in the important losing side.

The Pittsburgh Pirates virtually share second place with Brooklyn, but the Dodgers possess a .0004 of a percentage lead over the Bucs. Brooklyn has won 41 and lost 39 for .5189 while the Pirates have won 42 and lost 39 for .5185.

Rex Barney, the strong-armed right-hander, for whom the Dodgers have been waiting since 1943 to find himself, pitched the first shutout of his major league career in blanking the Cubs with seven hits.

The joy of Brooklyn's victory was dampened somewhat by an injury to centerfielder Carl Furillo in batting practice. Furillo's nose was broken when he was hit by a line drive from the bat of Coach Ray Blaine. He is expected to be out for about a week.

The Pirates crushed the Philadelphia Phillies, 11-2, in a night game in Pittsburgh. The Pirates clinched the game in the eighth with six runs, three of them coming on Ed Fitzgerald's first home run of the season.

Home runs by Johnny Wyrostek, Ted Kuszewski and Danny Littwiler accounted for six Cincinnati runs and gave the Reds a 9-6 victory over the Braves.

The scheduled game between the Giants and Cardinals in St. Louis was postponed because of rain. The idleness caused the Cards to drop from a three-way tie for second place to fourth.

The oncoming Boston Red Sox gained valuable ground on the three leaders in the American League, picking up a full game on Cleveland, Philadelphia and New York. Joe McCarthy's fourth players defeated the St. Louis Browns, 8-5, to move within a game of the third place Yankees.

The Yankees bowed to Detroit, 2-1, the same score by which Washington knocked off the first place Indians. The cellar-dwelling Chicago White Sox defeated the runner-up Athletics 5-2. The Indians now enjoy a one game bulge over the A's, lead the Yankees by three and a half games and the Red Sox by four and a half.

Southampton, England, July 21—(AP)—The bulk of the United States Olympic team—262 athletes—trooped down the gangplank of the S. S. America at 7 a. m. this morning as a flocked high-spirited through the customs inspection.

For the customs officers they listed items ranging from tiny goodluck charms to 15-ft. bamboo poles carried by pole vaulters.

An hour after leaving the ship they climbed into a fleet of buses and departed for London. Most of the men went to the Olympic village, a converted RAF center at suburban Uxbridge. Most of the girls are being put up at Southlands College in Wimbledon.

Clouds intermittently shut out the sun. The temperature was moderate for England, but felt cold to athletes fresh from the United States heat.

There was only one sour note. John Brooks, of Green Bay, Wis., a Yale University rower, who is alternate for two and four oared shells, became ill with a high fever. He was put in an ambulance for a trip to St. Mary's Hospital in London. The nature of his illness awaited diagnosis.

Reading, July 21—(AP)—Bantam Ben Hogan and Lloyd Mangrum carry their tee-for-tee battle for the golf circuit's money winning honors to Reading tomorrow.

Mangrum, former U. S. Open champion from Niles, Ill., regained the lead in the greenback race when he picked up $1,275 in last week's Dapper Dan Invitation Tournament at Pittsburgh. He now has a 1948 total of $20,421.99 as against Hogan's $20,197.58.

Hogan, Hershey, Pa., golf master, passed up the Dapper Dan and has been resting for this $15,000 second annual Reading Open over the rolling 6,740-yard Berkshire Country Club course.

Hogan, U. S. Open and PGA champion, will be making one of his infrequent appearances in his adopted state. The native Texan will have to be in top form to take down prize money as most of the nation's first flight golfers will be in the four day 72 hole competition.

More than 150 linksmen, including E. J. Dutch Harrison, Little Rock, Ark., defending champion, will tee off in the first round. Harrison fired a seven-under-par 277 in winning last year's first prize money.

Know Your Golf Shots

By HERMAN BARRON

Written Especially for AP Newsfeatures

(Last of a Series)

Putting is very important, in fact it's the most important shot in golf. It's on the greens that golf championships are won and lost.

Almost every prostar putts differently. I find the best method in putting is with an open stance.

I play the ball off my left toe with my left elbow close to my left side and the right elbow slightly away from my right side.

I use the same overlapping grip in putting as in all my other shots. The only exception is that my left hand is turned under.

Putting Grip
With the back of my hand almost in a direct line with the cup.

Be smooth in your putting and grip the club very lightly. You can attain a smooth putting touch with a long, slow backswing of the left hand on a straight line and then swing the clubhead through the ball with right hand.

I use a very heavy putter because I was putting short until five years ago when I had 3 or 4 ounces of brass added to the back of the putter. But the slow, smooth backswing works well even if your putter is on the light side.

Greenes, Sugar Grove, East Side and Clarendon Emerge Victorious In Junior Tilts

G. G. Greenes, Sugar Grove, East Side and Clarendon posted victories in the Junior Baseball League games last night, two of which were the playoffs of postponed scraps.

Phil Colosimo pitched two hit ball for the Greenes in setting down the Starbuck nine, 4-2, on Kings field in the West Side.

Sugar Grove threw a surprise into the league circles by tripping the fast stepping Conewango Elks, also by a 4-2 score, with Don Spencer handling the mound chores for the victors. He limited the Elks to two safeties while his mates were nailing Dick Christensen for three safeties.

East Side led its game with Youngville on Russell Field last night with four runs in the sixth frame. The Warren squad solved E. Haight for six hits, including a triple by Reed, while Smith, winning moundman, limited Youngville to three singles and a double by Johnson.

In the fourth game of the evening, Clarendon, pace setters for the Junior loop, kept its slate clean by trouncing North Warren, 15 to 8. Baker and Vesting shared mound duty for Clarendon, while L. Campman toed the rubber for North Warren.

MIDDLE ATLANTIC
By The Associated Press
The Vandergrift-Pioneers broke even with the Butler Yanks in a doubleheader last night to climb within a half game of the Uniontown Coal Barons, leaders of the Middle Atlantic league.

Eddie Kempa hurled two-hit ball to give Vandergrift a 3-0 win in the first game but in the second the Yanks staged an 11-run, eighth-inning uprising to come from behind and win 13-7.

Uniontown meanwhile was losing a humiliating 9-0 game to the cellar-dwelling New Castle chiefs. Red Thomas held the Barons to four hits, all singles, and allowed no man to reach third. After two pitchers had allowed nine runs in 2 2/3 innings, Uniontown Manager Bill Mongiello stalked in from third base and pitched the rest of the game, giving only two hits in 4 1/3 frames.

Walter Cox allowed only three hits as he pitched the Erie Sailors to a 3-0 win over the Oil City Refiners, the league's third shutout of the evening. It was Cox's 10th win against three losses.

Johnstown used homers by Manager Roy Nichols, George Friesse and Chris Kitsons to defeat the Youngstown Colts, 4-2. Pitcher Lew Jones allowed only five hits and permitted only one Colt to reach base in the last five innings.

Rumors Persist About Joe Louis

New York, July 21—(AP)—Joe Louis insisted today he meant "positively" when he stepped down as heavyweight champion but the ring world buzzed excitedly over reports he may come out of moth balls to defend his title again in September.

Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring magazine, said in a copyrighted article the Brown Bomber would meet Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich in Yankee Stadium Sept. 22.

Fleischer added he came to this conclusion after an interview with the tired champion in which Lewis told him:

"Maybe I should meet Lesnevich. I can beat him. I still will be able to retire unbeaten like Gene Tunney."

But in Detroit late yesterday, caught just as he was finishing a round of golf, Louis drove another spike into the comeback talk.

"I don't know where those rumors come from," he said. "I've retired and that's all there is to it."

The champion Falcons scored four runs in the first inning last night to clinch a 7-3 win over the Wellsville Red Sox. It was the Falcons' fifth straight conquest.

The victory enabled the Jamestown outfit to maintain its half-game lead over the Lockport Reds who piled up five runs in the first to insure a 7-2 verdict over the Hamilton Cardinals. The Falcons took the league lead away from the Reds Monday night.

The Ocean Oilers scored twice in the ninth to edge out the Batavia Clippers 6-5 and the Bradford Blue Wings turned back the Hornell Maple Leafs 11-6.

Today's games: Hornell at Olean (2), Batavia at Bradford and Wellsville at Jamestown (only games scheduled).

RECORD IS SET AT SARATOGA TRACK
Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 21—(AP)—A season record for three-year-old pacers was set by Atomic Bomb last night in winning the $3,000 Sagamore Pace in 2:03 3/5 at Saratoga Raceway.

Atomic Bomb, owned by W. N. Reynolds of Winston-Salem, N. C., and driven by Del Miller, finished two lengths ahead of the favored Knight Dream in the grand circuit feature. Navy Hal was third.

LONG DROUGHT
Cincinnati — (AP) — The last member of the Cincinnati Reds to win the National League home run championship was outfielder Fred Odwell, who copped the crown in 1905 with a total of nine circuit blasts. The all-time Cincinnati record is held by Ivan Goodman who blasted 30 in 1938. Mel Ott won the crown that year with 38.

NEWS OF THE WORLD AS SEEN IN PICTURES

Children Should Be Seen and Not Hurt

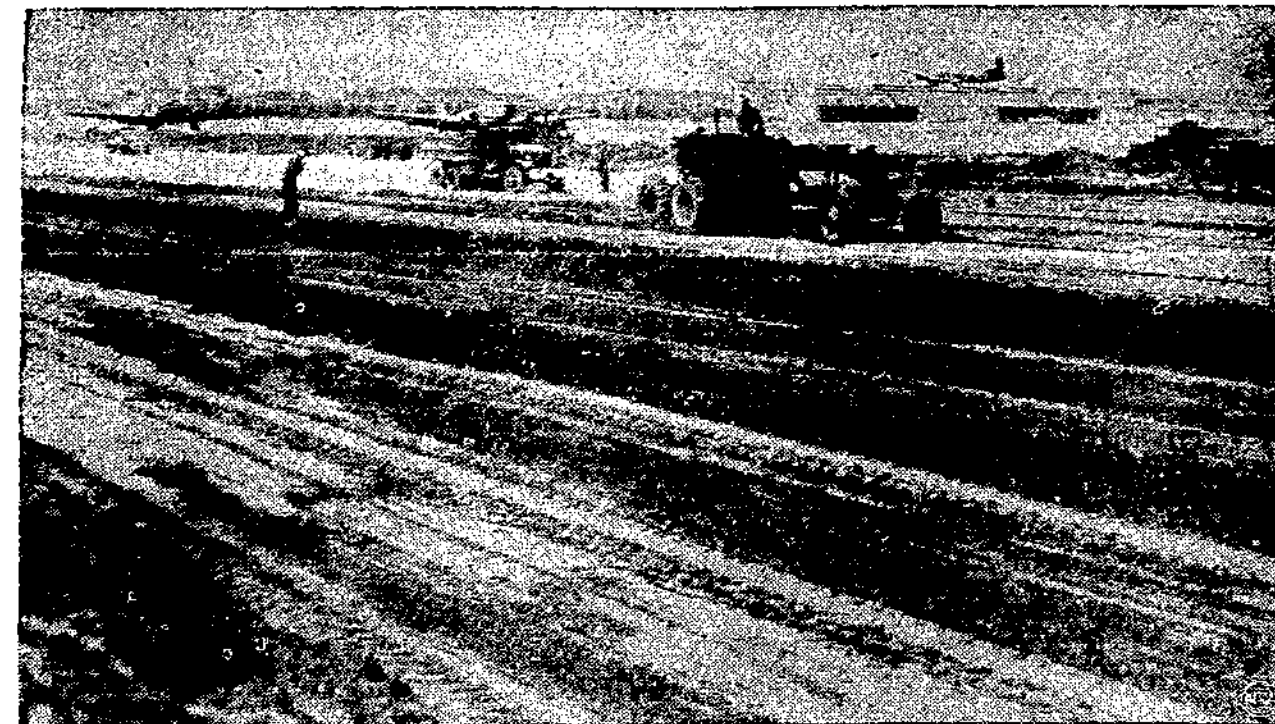

This picture should be worth a thousand words of warning to children and their elders. The little friends of three-year-old Jo Ann Sandbloom, of Cleveland, Ohio, are playing outdoors, going on picnics and generally having swell vacations. But Jo Ann is spending the summer strapped in a hospital bed, her legs hauled up in casts. That's because she forgot for a moment that children shouldn't play in driveways and because a grown-up, backing a car out, forgot for a moment that children often DO play in driveways. Jo Ann's friends send her lots of "get well" cards and many, like 16-year-old Lois Westgren, drop in to cheer her up. But Jo Ann would gladly trade it all to be able to romp on the grass again.

Open the Door, Jailer!

Exhibit A, which bailiff Robert Anderson is carrying into Chicago's Circuit Court, backfired on the defendant, Benjamin Karns brought the door to court to disprove his divorced wife's claim that he had kicked it in, thus violating an injunction not to molest her. When the judge discovered a loose panel, Karns went to the cooler for 20 days, with the door shut behind him.

Army Rushes Emergency Air Strip in Berlin

Since the Russians clamped down their blockade on Berlin, the U. S. Army has been flying food and other supplies to the beleaguered people of Berlin. The greatly increased air traffic has overcrowded the city's airfields and the Army is rushing emergency facilities. Here, Army equipment levels an emergency strip at Tempelhof Airfield, built over a base of war rubble. (Photo by NEA-Acme staff correspondent Al Cocking.)

A Family Affair

The Foot Is Quicker Than the Eye

Montgomery Clift's foot is kicking nothing more substantial than air, but when you see this episode in the movies, it will look like he's kicking a field-goal with John Wayne's head. With camera-tricks like this Hollywood makes a blood-and-thunder, knock-down-and-drag-out fight look real, even though nobody even gets slightly dented. This scene will appear in the movie, "Red River."

Southern Dems Rally

W. W. Wright, left, of Jackson, Miss., co-chairman of the States' Rights Committee, is welcomed to Birmingham, Ala., and the ramp convention of rebellious Southern Democrats by former Gov. Frank Dixon of Alabama. Delegates from at least five states will select a standard bearer to carry the states' rights banner against the civil rights flags of Truman and Dewey.

Goin' Home

Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko gestures during his last interview in New York before sailing home to Russia with his family aboard the liner Gripsholm. Chief Soviet delegate to the UN for three years, he had no statement other than that the UN "absolutely must succeed." After a vacation, he will receive a new assignment in the diplomatic service.

UN Guard Killed

Ole Helge Bakke, 29, of New York City, Norwegian member of the UN guard detachment on duty in Palestine, was shot to death in the demilitarization of the Mt. Scopus section of Jerusalem. He was the first UN staff member to lose his life in line of duty. Temporary burial will be on Mt. Scopus.

Reds Protest Togliatti Shooting

Marching in a protest parade on the second day of the general strike that has almost paralyzed Italy, Communists carry a huge portrait of Palmiro Togliatti, their wounded leader. The strike was called in retaliation for the attempted assassination of the No. 1 Red boss in Italy. (Photo by NEA-Acme staff correspondent Julius Huml.)

Greetings From Shaw to Shaw

As he looked forward to celebrating his 92nd birthday on July 26, George Bernard Shaw, famous Irish playwright and author, received greetings and good wishes from a stranger with whom he has much in common—his name. The stranger was George Bernard Shaw, an RAF veteran. In the exclusive photo above, the two GBS's are shown chatting at the playwright's home at Ayot St. Lawrence, England. The younger Shaw said he decided to drop in and see his famous namesake "just for fun."

'In the Fight to the Finish'

Faces Trial for Murder

Kane Veteran Faces Charge Of Homicide

Kane, July 21—Alvin Smiley, 26-year-old veteran of World War I, Tuesday was formally charged with murder in connection with the slaying of his 19-year-old wife, County Detective Alvin Dickinson announced today. Dickinson said he filed information on the charge before Justice of the Peace Emile Stenger here. Smiley's arraignment was scheduled for 2 p. m. Friday in Stenger's office. Despite the fact that Smiley successfully passed a lie detector test yesterday afternoon in Smithport in support of his story that his wife was killed when his 22 calibre rifle accidentally discharged in the family automobile, the charge was filed. Dickinson quoted District Attorney Claude Shattuck as saying the case justified grand jury action on the ground that Smiley told authorities three different versions of the shooting since his wife mother of two and the expectant mother of a third child, was killed in the family car July 14 on the Kinzua road, two miles north of Kane.

Fat Salvage Marches On Even During Hot Spell

Even though hot weather discourages long hours in the kitchen and makes a woman think twice before planning a heavy roast, she should not file her fat salvage can with mothballs during the summer months, the American Fat Salvage Committee points out. Picnic frankfurters are a source of fat to add to the salvage container. If they are boiled, the fat that congeals on top of the water in which they are cooked can be skimmed into your fat container. If fried or barbecued in the back yard, the residual fat left in the pan is worthy of saving. Fat can be salvaged from either cold cuts or canned meat. If your family requires that you remove the rim of fat on ham and other meat cuts before roasting, melt these scraps down and add to your fat container, and when canned meat is opened, scrape the congealed fat jelly from the top and sides of the can. It means pennies for you. "During the summer months, you may want to keep your fat salvage can in your refrigerator or on cool cellar stairs to prevent rancidity," a spokesman points out, adding that the big point is never to neglect saving fat because the world scarcity of fats goes on during hot summer months as well as during other seasons of the year.

Interesting Letter From Local Tourist

The following interesting letter from Anna K. Lawson, principal of the Seneca Street school, touring in the west, has been received by Warren friends:

Camp Curry
Yosemite National Park
California

Dear Friends:
We had such a beautiful experience at Yosemite Park last evening I just thought you might like to hear about it.
At nine o'clock after the evening's entertainment the lights in the camp were turned out and a tense silence seemed to hold the crowd. The host of Camp Curry cupped his hands and called out "Hel-lo—Gle—cier!" as he looked toward the top of the 3200 foot Glacier. Fairly came the megaphoned answer, "Hel-lo Camp Curry!" Again the host called, "Le—the fire—fall!" Then the shadow-like response "All—right!" Suddenly a ball of fire flashed from the top. It poised for a moment and broke into fragments making a "Fire Fall." We listened for a sound. There was none. Soon there was darkness and the lights were turned on. There were other entertainments but we retired to our tents early for the pure luxury of enjoying a good night's rest. And how we did sleep.
Our trip is perfect. Everything far surpasses everything I could imagine, even to seeing the Delicate Arch of 300,000 fruit trees. Tomorrow we leave for San Francisco and then begin our journey homeward.
I must do a bit of packing so will say.
Love,
Anna K. Lawson.

MANUFACTURERS LIGHT AND HEAT COMPANY

Office for Food and Feed Conservation Suggests:

A "PEACE PLATE" FOR TODAY

Save Wheat! Save Meat! Save the Peace!

Five layers of flavorful vegetables and beef in a steaming casserole—that's our thrifty one-dish meal suggestion for today.
We'll go easy on the meat—to keep down cost. For the goodness of potatoes and celery, onion and tomatoes stretches the flavor of the beef.
And the meat can come from an economy cut. For it is ground, and grinding helps to tenderize these lower-priced cuts.
A pound of plate will give you just about the half-pound of lean meat you'll need for today's recipe. Here are the what and how of our Monday casserole:

FIVE-LAYER DINNER
1 1/2 cups potatoes, sliced raw
1 cup celery, 1-inch pieces
1 cup ground raw beef
1/2 cup onions, sliced
1 cup tomatoes, cooked
Salt and pepper

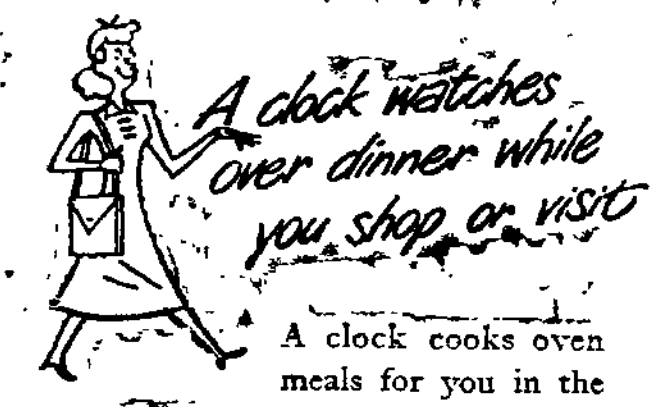

Arrange ingredients in layers in a greased casserole in the order given. Bake about an hour and a quarter in a moderate oven (350°F). Serves 4.

Since the main dish goes easy on the meat, let's have an egg salad for heartiness. Here's the menu:

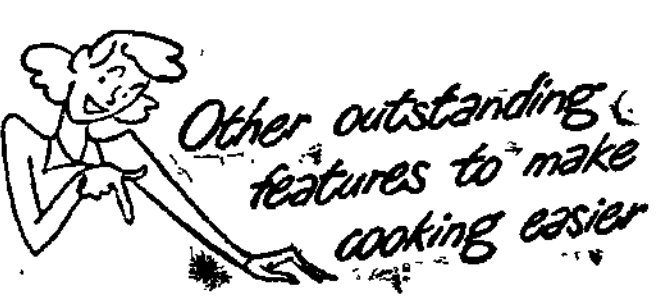

Five-Layer Dinner
Hot Biscuits Plum Conserve
Egg and Watercress Salad
Chilled Rhubarb

FOOD TIPS: Do you have a good sharp meat grinder and use it? For dishes such as today's casserole, it often pays to grind meat at home—even though you can buy ground meat with less trouble. When you do your own grinding, you can regulate the amount of fat you put in. And you can be sure the lean meat is free from gristle. Ground meat, you know, is so much more tasty when made from lean meat.
A meat grinder helps you make the best use of "hold-over" meats. You can grind the crisp skin of chicken for added flavor in a casserole.
Other kitchen tools are thrifty aids too. A sharp paring knife lessens waste in peeling potatoes or apples.

You'll see every convenience you want in the beautiful new Gas Ranges. You get latest automatic features... easy-to-clean construction... wide variety of models PLUS the fastest, easiest to control, most economical of all cooking fuels.

A clock cooks oven meals for you in the new Automatic Gas Ranges. Here's how it works. Suppose you're going out for the afternoon. You put a whole meal into the oven and set the thermostat at the right temperature. Then you set the clock to start the oven at, say, three o'clock and to shut it off at five thirty. That's all there is to it. While you're shopping or visiting, a delicious dinner is cooking for you.

- All burners light automatically—on top, in the oven and broiler
- Oven temperatures automatically controlled
- Thick insulation keeps kitchens cooler
- Adjustable broiler pans can be set in the position you want
- Clog-proof, lifetime burners
- Giant burners... simmer burners
- Choice of top burner arrangement

Office for Food and Feed Conservation Suggests:

A "PEACE PLATE" FOR TODAY

Save Wheat! Save Meat! Save the Peace!

Five layers of flavorful vegetables and beef in a steaming casserole—that's our thrifty one-dish meal suggestion for today.

We'll go easy on the meat—to keep down cost. For the goodness of potatoes and celery, onion and tomatoes stretches the flavor of the beef.

A pound of plate will give you just about the half-pound of lean meat you'll need for today's recipe. Here are the what and how of our Monday casserole:

- FIVE-LAYER DINNER
- 1 1/2 cups potatoes, sliced raw
 - 1 cup celery, 1-inch pieces
 - 1 cup ground raw beef
 - 1/2 cup onions, sliced
 - 1 cup tomatoes, cooked
 - Salt and pepper

Arrange ingredients in layers in a greased casserole in the order given. Bake about an hour and a quarter in a moderate oven (350°F.). Serves 4.
